BEST PRODUCTS OF 2007

Kemiko Stone Tone Stain transforms an ordinary concrete slab into a luxurious floor that resembles marble or glazed stone. When concrete is stained and scored, Kemiko creates the appearance of expensive flooring at a fraction of the cost. Unlike paint, Kemiko Stone Tone Stain reacts with the minerals present in the concrete giving it the look and feel of natural stone. For more info, visit: www.kemiko.com.

Milgard's Ultra Series high performance windows are constructed with pultruded fiberglass frames that closely resemble painted wood. Fiberglass is prized for its durability, thermal benefits and low maintenance. It withstands changes in temperature and humidity and resists peeling, cracking, warping, shrinking and fading. For more information, visit: www.milgard.com.

Kohler Deeper isn't always better when it comes to homeowners effectively utilizing their kitchen sinks. Kohler introduces the Langlade Smart Divide Kitchen Sink with the innovative Smart Divide feature. This sink measures 33" x 22" x 9", with a 9-inch basin depth. It's available with several faucet hold drilling options and 21 different color options. For more information, visit: www.kohler.com.

Since 1995, Sierra Building Products, a nationwide network of Oldcastle manufacturing facilities, has produced architectural masonry and concrete aggregate products. These products include the traditional and antiqued paver and wall series, concrete block, stone and brick. All Oldcastle products have a long history of successful applications on thousands of residential projects. For more information, visit: www.sierrapavers.com.
